One of the most surprising performances during the recent Long Island endurance test was that of a five-horse-power American gasoline vehicle, which carried two passengers over the 100-mile course, without a stop, in 8 hours and 20 minutes, consuming but 3 gallons and 10 gills of gasoline.

OLD HOME WEEK.

July 27th. 1902. August 2nd.

By act of the legislature of 1902 the week commencing the last Sunday in July each year is to be known as "Old Home Week," in which opportunity is afforded for natives and past residents of any city or town in this state, who have gone therefrom to other homes, to return and be welcomed home again, and become members of the Old Home Week society of their former home city or town. By request of the selectmen, the Arlington Historical society has consented to aid in the forming of an Old Home Week society in this town, provided the residents decide it should be done. For that purpose the residents of the town of Arlington are invited to meet in the town hall, Thursday, June 19, at 8 p. m., to decide upon what action the town will take in this matter, and to organize an Old Home Week society if thought proper.

GEO. Y. WELLINGTON,
Pres. Arlington Historical Society.

EUREKA.

The veteran firemen will participate in the muster at Charlestown next Tuesday. It will be one of the largest ever held in this part of the state. All members are expected to appear in full uniform at the Franklin headquarters on the morning of the 17th at 7 o'clock. Every member should make a special effort to attend, as the old Eureka is in fine condition and is bound to make a good showing if the "boys" are on hand to man the brakes.

J. O. Holt is so much improved in health as to be out of doors again.

A. B. C. NOTES.

The club won the championship in the Mystic Valley league by defeating the "Battery team" two straight last week Friday night, on the Newtowne alleys. There was a good crowd present, and much enthusiasm was displayed. The Arlington team was composed of Whittemore, Homer, Gray, Rugg and Durgin.

The baseball team and the Jog Alongs of Watertown played an interesting game in the rain Saturday afternoon. Boat club won by 2 to 1, hitting the Jog Along pitcher opportunely. In the ninth the Jog Alongs improved in batting and managed to bring in one run. There had been two men on bases and both came home, but the second was caught, being called out at the plate.

The boat club team will play the athletic team this afternoon at 3.30. After this game, the third race for the cup, Whitaker vs. Lloyd, will be held on Spy pond.

Next Tuesday the team will play the Cambridge Reds.

The annual regatta will be held Tuesday. It will consist of novice singles, senior singles, doubles, a war canoe race with four men in each, a canoe tilt, novelty race, greased pole, tub race, and swimming race. Prizes will be awarded.

SCHOOL NOTES.

At the meeting of the school board Tuesday evening, Miss Carolyn Parker of Wayland was elected to the position made vacant in the Crosby school by the resignation of Miss Worcester.

Miss Lena H. Abbott is to become master's assistant in the Russell school. Miss Eleanor B. Mitchell of Taunton will take the position left by Miss Abbott.

For the new room at the Cutter school Miss Caroline M. Young of Hopedale has been elected.

The new room in the Locke school will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Williams of South Acton.

The remaining teachers of the old corps were re-elected.

A. H. S. NOTES.

The high school team defeated Stoneham high last week Friday in the fastest game ever played on Lawrence field. The ten innings were played in one hour and ten minutes and resulted in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of Arlington. Gott and Shean pitched for the home team, with Kelly behind the bat. Watson and Grady were Stoneham's battery.

Fred Cook, formerly of the high school, pitched for Exeter in the championship game last Saturday. Exeter won for the first time in five years.

The class of 1902 has accepted an invitation to attend the morning service at St. John's church a week from tomorrow. The rector, Rev. James Yeames, will preach a baccalaureate sermon, and special music will be rendered by the vested choir, assisted by Julius Hackel, violinist.

The high school team defeated Watertown last Tuesday by 13 to 9.

Wednesday the team won from the high school at Belmont by 19 to 6 in a rather loosely played game.

Honesty will succeed as a principle where it fails as a policy.

LOCATION GRANTED.

The long fight between the Newton and the Waltham street railways over the double track location on Main street was practically settled at a special meeting of the Waltham board of aldermen Monday night. A grant of location was given the first named company with the provision that the Waltham company shall have trackage rights to the Watertown line. By the terms of the grant the Newton company is given permission to double track Main street from its present westerly terminus to the Watertown line, except between Weston and Prospect streets where the Waltham company was previously given a grant. It agrees to give the Waltham company trackage rights, to expend $15,000 in the construction of Main street 1000 feet each side of Moody street, to run cars at least every half hour from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., to carry all passengers from all its lines in Newton and Watertown to all points in Waltham for a single fare, to sell 10 tickets to school children for 25 cents and have cars in operation by Dec. 1 of the present year.

The Waltham company is given the right to construct tracks from the corner of Main and Linden streets, through Linden street, Quince street extension, Beaver street and Trapelo road to the Belmont line. The company agrees to pay one-half the cost of the construction of Quince street extension, the company's share not to exceed $9000, to carry all passengers from all points on its lines in Newton, Weston and Belmont to all points in Waltham on its lines and to accept transfers from any connecting company. The rest of the agreement is similar to that of the Newton company, and the cars must be in operation by Dec. 1.

The Waltham street railway was granted an extension of time till May 1, 1903, in which to complete its line through South, Main, Prospect, Maple and High streets to the Newton line.

THE WRONG WAY

to buy drugs, is the cheap way. If medicine is to cure the sick, it must be the best and purest, and skill and experience are also necessary in the art of compounding physicians' prescriptions. We are registered pharmacists and we employ registered clerks in our prescription department. There's a very pointed moral to this true tale. We simply give you our name and let you draw your own conclusions.

CONGRESSMAN FITZPATRICK Says Pe-ru-na is a Splendid Catarrhal Tonic.

Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick, Congressman from Kentucky, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows:
"At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peruna and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with catarrh or who needs a good tonic."

A Good Tonic.
Peruna is a natural and efficient nerve tonic. It strengthens and restores the activity of every nerve in the body.
Through the use of Peruna the weakened or overworked nerves resume their natural strength and the blood vessels begin at once to regulate the flow of blood according to nature's laws. Congestions immediately disappear.

Catarrh Cured.
All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured. It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peruna has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.
Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Posterity His Judge.
Having obtained the permission of a son, three daughters, a son-in-law, and two grandchildren, an Atchison widower is about to marry again.—Atchison Globe.

RIPANS
Ripans Tablets are the best medicine in the world. There is scarcely any condition of ill health that is not benefited by the occasional use of a Ripans Tablet, and the price—10 for 5 cents—does not bar them from any home or justify any one in enduring ills that are easily cured. A family bottle containing 150 Tablets is sold for 60 cents. For sale by druggists.

ARLINGTON LOCALS.
ROBERT DINSMORE.

Robert Dinsmore, whose death is recorded in another column, was a man much beloved by his many friends. He was born in the north of Ireland in 1843, where he lived during the years of his early manhood. Coming to this country in 1870, he first made his home in Lynn, where he remained two years.
He came to Arlington in 1872, where he has since resided. He married soon after his arrival in Arlington. This deceased leaves a wife and seven children, two boys and five girls. Mr. Dinsmore, as a florist and market gardener, had made a success of his work. He was one of the organizers of St. John's Episcopal church and was a member of its vestry until about two years ago, when, owing to illness, he resigned. He was a loving husband and father, his first thought being for his family. The funeral was held at his late home Monday afternoon, Rev. W. S. W. Raymond of South Boston, his former rector, conducting the service. The interment was at Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Dinsmore and her family in this hour of their affliction will receive the sympathy of the entire community.

Saturday, June 21, J. Prescott Gage of Arlington will sell the Crescent Hall building, corner of Massachusetts and Park avenues, Arlington Heights, at auction. The sale will take place at 4 p. m. Terms and further particulars of property may be had by applying to Mr. Gage.

Miss Mary Welch of 130 Lewis avenue has gone to Meredith, N. H. for her health.
Mrs. M. W. Bickley and family of Jason street, excepting Lloyd Bickley, who stays for class day, left the first of the week for their cottage at Orr's Island, Maine, where they will spend the summer.

Dr. Hubbard Foster of Pelham terrace left the middle of the week for a short visit with relatives in Buffalo, and thence to Clifton Springs, N. Y., for a few weeks.
Supt. Monahan of the Arlington Gas works has, by his efficient methods, materially increased the company's business. He is a very pleasant man to meet.

Walton H. Sears, son of the town treasurer, a recent graduate of the School of Technology in the department of mechanical engineering, has an important position in the Pennsylvania Steel Company, at Steelton, Penn. Mr. Sears will leave for his new field of labor next Saturday.

Circle lodge, 77, initiated one candidate at its meeting last week Friday night.
Selectman Farmer arrived home Tuesday from his fishing trip in Maine. Several people from Arlington were present at the reception given by the Sigma Tau chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon at the Hotel Brunswick last Monday through the courtesy of David Elwell, M. I. T., '04, who is a member of the chapter.

Walton H. Sears and Arthur H. Sawyer received their degree the past week from the Tech.
The Arlington baseball club was defeated by the Wakefields last Saturday in a well-played game by 6 to 5.
H. A. Kidder of Addison street has been in Minneapolis the past week, attending the convention of the Knights of Honor.

The last meeting for the year of the Loyal Temperance legion was held Monday evening in the Congregational church vestry. After a brief business meeting, a social and general good time was made, with games, music and recitations, under the direction of the superintendent, Rev. James Yeames. The local branch of the W. C. T. U. served ice cream and cake.

R. W. LeBaron and H. B. Johnson of the firm of LeBaron & Johnson, have recently closed a contract with the town of Greenfield for the installing of a compressed air fire alarm whistle, similar to the one installed in Lexington, Maine, by this firm some time ago.

Superintendent of Wires LeBaron completed the new fire alarm system at the lower end of the town last Saturday and put it in commission. The bell used is the one formerly on the old Cutter school and is operated by the electric apparatus that was used on the church bell at the Heights before the installation of the new bell.

The order recently issued by the Canadian authorities forbidding Chinamen or Japanese from cutting shingle bolts or logs from the crown lands will, it is thought, drive hundreds of the Mongolians into the United States, despite the Chinese Exclusion law. The Chinese had been extensively employed in cutting timber in Canada, and it alleged that white men are now making $100 a head by smuggling them across the border into the State of Washington.

Senators Frye and Proctor are enthusiastic anglers, and every year the latter goes trout fishing in Vermont at sunrise on the 1st of May. The other day Mr. Frye was sitting in his chair in the Senate, gazing at the ceiling, when he was handed the following note: "Dear Frye—How can you sit there when the ice is out of the lake?" Proctor. Senator Frye is said to have sighed so loudly upon reading this missive that his colleagues felt sure he had received bad news.

QUEER FLORIDA CRABS.
Some Have Purple Shells and Feed on the Fruit of the Cactus.

Haunting the rookeries of the birds in the southern part of the peninsula is a large blue crab. He makes a hole in the ground, usually under a log, and when he hears a noise elevates his head and protrudes his eyes with startling effect. He is able to take care of himself, for his pincers are powerful and his shell is hard. He is often as large as a saucer.

There is a perpetual war between him and the birds. He wanders among the nests at night, and appropriates the bits of flesh left by the nestlings, and the young themselves if he can find the mother off her guard. But he has to be sly, or he is killed by the stroke of a bayonet bill and eaten in his turn. When a plume hunter has driven off or destroyed the parents of a rookery these crabs swarm forth and devour the orphan young in short order. But while the mothers are allowed to do their duty the crabs are ideal scavengers, and devour the refuse as well as the insects that infest the bird cities. Their bright colors, like those of the tiger, make them less dangerous than their appetites would otherwise be.

There is a little purple crab along the coast of Southern Florida which seems to feed almost entirely on the fruit of the cactus. This it so much resembles that you are suddenly surprised to see one of the succulent little balls move away from your fingers before you are aware that it is alive. Step back and the crab will resume its place and seem to be as curious about you as you are about him.

One of the most beautiful shells found along our coast is that of a large snail which climbs certain trees and grows delicately fat on the young birds. The shell is as thin as tissue paper, oddly curved and almost as transparent as the finest glass. It belongs to the family of edible snails so prized as a delicacy on the coast of France, and if properly prepared makes a delicious dish. It is most abundant about New River Inlet, where the slight shake of a tree about sunset will bring a shower of them to the ground. The breakage of a shell seems to be of little trouble to the snail—he repairs the damage and moves on.—Jacksonville (Fla.) Citizen.

What the Insects Cost Us.
In Harper's, Dr. H. C. McCook, in his article on "Insects and Civilization," gives some startling statistics as to the amount of destruction done annually in this country by insects of various sorts. Here are his figures:
The chinch-bug caused a loss of $2,000,000 in 1871, upwards of $100,000,000 in 1874, and in 1887, $60,000,000. The Rocky Mountains locust, or grasshopper, in 1874 destroyed $100,000,000 of the crops of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa, and the indirect loss was probably as much more. For many years the cotton caterpillar caused an annual average loss in the Southern States of $15,000,000, while in 1868 and 1873 the loss reached $30,000,000. The fly-weevil, our most destructive enemy to stored grains, particularly throughout the South, inflicts an annual loss in the whole country of $40,000,000. The codling-moth, the chief ravager of the apple and pear crops, destroys every year fruit valued at $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. The damage to live stock inflicted by the ox-bot, or ox-warble, amounts to $36,000,000.

These are fair samples of the enormous money losses produced in one country by a few of the pigmy captains of pernicious industry whose hosts operate in the granaries, fields, stock-farms and the stock-yards of our country. What is the grand total? Mr. B. D. Walsh, one of the best entomologists of his day, in 1867 estimated the total yearly loss in the United States from insects to be from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000. In 1890, C. V. Riley, long chief of the Division of Entomology, estimated the loss at $300,000,000. Dr. James Fletcher in 1891 footed up the loss to about one-tenth of our agricultural products—$330,000,000! In 1899 E. Dwight Sanderson, after careful consideration of the whole field, put the annual loss at $309,000,000.

Easy to Believe.
An inspector was watching a gang of men clear the snow from a New York street. There were some dozen men, says the Evening Post, all working indifferently, getting in each other's way, or standing idle until the foreman "went" for them. One, however, was working in a different manner. "That is Pat Connelley's cart," said the inspector, "and that is Pat." He pointed to a sturdy little Irishman, who buried and lifted a big shovel with the precision of a machine. When his cart was good and full, he received two tickets for it instead of one because it was a double load, hard packed. He drove briskly away, leaving other carts that had come up before him still waiting to be filled. "That is Pat Connelley," repeated the inspector, thoughtfully. "He has been a day-laborer all his life, and yet he is worth a small fortune. To my knowledge he owns sixty thousand dollars' worth of property, free of debt."

Why Rats Gnaw.
Some years ago a German scientist began to study rats and mice, with the object of ascertaining why they are so fond of gnawing wood, and, indeed, almost anything on which their teeth can be employed, and news now comes that his patient researches have at last been crowned with success. He says that these animals, and especially rats, have teeth which grow longer every year, and keep growing longer during their entire life, and that the object of the animals in gnawing is to keep them at a proper length as otherwise it would be impossible for them to grasp or chew any food.

POOL.

There is no more exhilarating pastime to the man who uses his brain excessively than that of pool playing. It furnishes a radical change from the routine of constant thinking in regular channels for it brings into use a diversity of thoughts entirely foreign thereto and therefore recreative in character. Besides, it affords much wholesome physical exercise otherwise. Our pool-room at No. 401 Mass. Ave., Arlington, is a retreat for those who would, for a brief time, drive dull care away. It is kept in the most orderly manner and we solicit the patronage of gentlemen. We have no room for idlers or loungers of a social caste who can not mingle with gentlemen.

A harvest of diplomas is being gathered.

There is a growing interest being taken in the coming "home week" throughout the state. Let us be sure that we do not lag in this home-gathering of the children.

The petition of the West End street railway for a location in Belmont, from the Boston & Maine tracks to the Waltham line, should be granted. Such a line, even if leased at once to the Concord & Boston, would do much to aid visitors to the Beaver brook reservation, by relieving some of the trouble arising from the crowds who are obliged to walk from the present terminus.

The wondrous glory of those western evening skies was beyond description. The massive, floating clouds just above the horizon were literally pillars of fire. The zenith gave back in gorgeous profusion the tints of the rainbow; and yet how few saw the wonderful painting! Why isn't it the better way to go through the world reaching out for the best? Fortunately he whose eye is ever open to behold the beautiful, and whose ear is quick to catch the sweetest melodies.

PRAYING FOR RAIN.

Why not pray for rain, as well as pray for one's daily bread? It was Henry Ward Beecher who said that prayer in most instances is wrongly defined. Mr. Beecher insisted that prayer is simply that condition of heart and soul which gratefully resigns thought in these days of genius'thought in these days of general intelligence that prayer, however earnestly offered, will bring the wind around to the northeast, and cause the floods to descend. Prayer is simply the translation of open arms, outstretched to receive the gift.

OLD HOME WEEK.

We have no apologies to offer for so frequently writing of Old Home week. For the past two years we have seen much of this annual home gathering in New Hampshire, and we have noted with especial pleasure the beneficial results coming therefrom, both to the resident population and to those residing at a distance from the scenes of their earlier days. That many of the resident families will be away from their homes during the summer, can afford no good reason why we should not observe home week. There will surely be a sufficient number remaining at home to care properly for those who may retrace their steps to the town which gave them birth. And besides, the old roads will be left, and many a familiar tree and rock will be found in the old places; the same extended view can be had from the tip of Arlington Heights; Spy pond will be here, and all these, and more, too, will remain for the returning boys and girls to look upon, in spite of the number of families that may be away at their summer residences. It isn't necessary to get up during home week a daily picnic for those who returned. We can, however, give hearty welcome to them. We can let them have the run of the town. We can say make yourselves at home, and pull our doorbells at morning, noon or night, as best suits your convenience. Last summer we journeyed one hundred and twenty-five miles to be present at a club meeting in our native town, and however enjoyable such a meeting might prove itself, how much more enjoyable must a meeting of all the citizens of the town prove itself. It is to be hoped that we shall not fail to plan for the celebration of home week, which the state so earnestly suggests and urges.

ARLINGTON LOCALS.

SAMUEL H. SMITH.

In the death of Samuel H. Smith Arlington has lost one of its foremost citizens and a man beloved by all who knew him. Mr. Smith had a generous heart and a willing hand for all conditions of life. Wherever he went he drew about him a host of friends. He was the youngest child of the late Rev. Samuel Abbot Smith, who was for several years pastor of the Unitarian church. The deceased was born April 5, 1864, being at the time of his death something more than 38 years old. Having fitted for college in the public schools of Arlington, he was graduated from Harvard in 1887. In 89 he was admitted to the bar, soon afterwards becoming a member of the firm of Lowell, Smith & Lowell of Boston. At the time of his death he was recognized as one of the most promising members of the Suffolk bar, having been engaged in many important cases.

Mr. Smith was an active factor in local affairs. He had served as chairman of the school committee and as a member of the parish committee of the First parish. He was also a member of the Oakley Country club of Watertown and of the Union club of Boston.

His loving and ardent nature brought him very near to men and women everywhere. He had a pleasant, cheerful word for all. Responsive and receptive as he was, he took in and gave out the best there was in the world of nature and of man. Mr. Smith was an optimist, and nowhere was this characteristic seen so clearly as in his happy family life. As son and brother, husband and father, he evinced a love that was ideal. His home was his earthly paradise where he made all about him happy.

The funeral services were held at his late home on Academy street, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Gill, officiating. A quartet under the leadership of T. Ralph Parris sang. The pall bearers were Judge James P. Parmenter, Herman F. Buckman, of Arlington; William D. Sohler, John Lowell, senior partner of the firm, Lowell, Smith & Lowell; James A. Lowell, Walter Austin, and Herbert H. Darling, all of Boston; and Joseph B. Russell of Cambridge. The wealth of flowers placed upon the grave by his many friends gave sweet testimony of the esteem and love in which Mr. Smith was held. Great sympathy is felt with the family in its affliction, and especially with the bereaved wife and daughter, and widowed mother.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

Tomorrow will be observed as children's Sunday. The principal service will be held at 10.45 a. m. The Sunday school will unite in this church service. There will be singing by the chorus choir, assisted by Ralph Parris, basso, and Glen Marston, violinist. Recitations will be given by members of the school; and the rite of baptism will be administered. At the evening service, 7 o'clock, of the young people, Wilson Fay of the Heights will speak on the subject, "Some Religious Suggestions Gained from a Study of Birds."

At the annual meeting of the Y. P. C. U. held at the home of J. H. Butterfield, Lake street, Tuesday evening, the officers elected for the new year were, president, Grace R. Carpenter; vice-president, Frederick Butterfield; secretary, Ethel Butterfield; treasurer, not elected; superintendent of missions, Flossie Cobb; superintendent of literature, Mrs. F. B. Wadleigh; superintendent of Christian citizenship, L. K. Russell.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Sunday services: Holy communion, 7.30; morning prayer, litany, and lecture, 7.30.

The fifth in the series of lectures on "Catholic, but not Roman Catholic" will be delivered by the rector tomorrow evening. Subject, "Purgatory or Paradise?"

A chapter of the junior department of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew has been formed. The new chapter will be visited by the Charlestown chapter next Thursday.

Rev. S. C. Bushnell baptized three infants Sunday morning.

The subject of Mr. Bushnell's sermon tomorrow morning will be "Sticking to It."

The First parish (Unitarian) church and Sunday school will unite in a children's Sunday flower service tomorrow morning at 10.45. All are cordially invited.

A delegation of Post 26 of Roxbury and other visitors, including Past Department Commander Gilman and Secretary of State Olin, were present at the meeting of Post 36 Thursday night. The occasion was the presentation to Capt. Winchester of a brick from Fort Sumter by W. R. Kitching, in fulfillment of a promise made in 1864.

The Relief Corps will exemplify its work next Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Coleman of Pelham terrace returned Thursday from Kansas City, where she has been teaching.

neath the running board, and dragged some distance, but escaped the wheels. No serious damage was done and he took the next car.

Miss Grace Fowle of Swan street left home Saturday to begin a course in the training school of the McLean hospital, Waverley.

An alarm was rung from box 16 Monday night at about 9 o'clock. An old stable on the Walter Bushnell estate occupied by J. J. Lyons was burned. As the blaze was spectacular, a large crowd collected and considerable damage was done to the garden surrounding the building.

Professor Forbes of Edinburgh has for many years worked on the problem of determining the position of a planet more distant than Neptune. The point of departure of his method is the theorem announced by Professor Newton of Yale in 1879, viz.: If the parabolic orbits of comets have been changed to eclipse the changes can only be due to the influence of planets, and the aphelion of the new orbit is, in all probability, the position that the comet occupied at the time of the change. In 1880 Professor Forbes showed that seven comets have an aphelion distance of about one hundred times the earth's distance from the sun. He has recently found a new comet of this class. The comet of 1556 is identified by him with a comet rediscovered in 1844. Its orbits have been disturbed by a planet with a mass considerably greater than that of Jupiter at a distance of about one hundred times the earth's distance, and calculation shows that the longitude of this planet would be at present about 181 degrees. The method followed by Professor Forbes is necessarily difficult and slow. It is likely that the extra-Neptunian planet, if indeed it exists, will be discovered by the comparison of photographic plates of the sky. Several astronomers are now at work on the problem.

JUNETIME.

By Nixon Waterman.
It's Junetime, we can tell it by the
murmur of the bees.
It's Junetime, we can smell it in the
clover-scented breeze.
It's Junetime and it's tunetime for the
birds among the trees.
Glad Junetime, when the days are
sweet and long.
It's Junetime, and the roses spill their
perfume on the air.
It's Junetime, and the leafy lanes are
wonderfully fair.
It's Junetime, and in dreams we kiss
our fingertips to care.
It's Junetime, and the world is full
of song.

But for the frosty winds that chilled
the forest and the plain,
But for the snowy drifts that filled the highway and the lane,
The Junetime and the noontime of the year were all in vain.
'Twas winter gave the sweetness to
the spring;
And while his robes of fleecy white
enfolded field and fen,
The faith of better things to come was in the hearts of men.
We knew, in his appointed time, the
thrush would come again,
And bring us back the summer on his wing.

The hills are crowned with gladness
and the vales are wrapped in rhyme,
A thousand notes are blended in a melody sublime.
It is the blissful season when we'd
stop the clock of time,
And keep the June forever and a day.
With blue skies for a canopy and
green fields for a bed,
And joy and grace in every place our willing feet are led.
There's happiness in every path, and
heaven overhead,
So sweetly runs the winsome world
away

It's Junetime, we can tell it by the
murmur of the bees.
It's Junetime, we can smell it in the
clover-scented breeze.
It's Junetime and it's tunetime for the
birds among the trees.
Glad Junetime when the days are
sweet and long.
It's Junetime, and the roses spill their
perfume on the air.
It's Junetime, and the leafy lanes are
wonderfully fair.
It's Junetime, and in dreams we kiss
our fingertips to care.
It's Junetime, and the world is full
of song.

John T. Scott.

John T. Scott of the firm of Scott & Denham, died at his home on Waltham street Monday night at 8.30. Mr.
Scott was taken down in December
with pneumonia, which developed subsequently into tuberculosis. He died on his 43 birthday. Mr. Scott was born in Boston and moved to Lexington when a young boy. He has lived here ever since. He was a painter before he went into the livery business about two years ago. He leaves a wife and two children, Lawrence, aged 13, and a little girl two months old. The burial took place Thursday afternoon at 2.30 from the house. Rev.
C. F. Carter officiated.

In Again.

Frank Sullivan, alias William Brown, alias John Morandus, was sentenced Tuesday to not more than five nor less than three and a half years in Charlestown state prison for breaking into Pierce's Bridge station and into other places. The police have found that Sullivan was born in Lawrence and is 29 years old. He has a record which shows that he is an habitual criminal and no sooner gets out of prison than he returns to it. He has been arrested eight times since his first arrest in 1884.

Baptist Church.

Last Sunday, after a five minute sermon to the children by the pastor, two young ladies were baptized. After the morning service the Sunday school hour was given up to Children's day exercises. A program was rendered consisting of songs and readings, followed by an exercise by the primary class, "The Floral Cross." In the evening Rev.
G. W. Fuller preached on "What the Sons of God Shall Become." Tomorrow morning the pastor will preach on
"The Why, What and How of Belief."
In the evening on "The Building of a Christian Character."

Mary Shea.

Mrs. Mary Shea, widow of the late Jeremiah Shea, died Wednesday at the age of 70 years. The funeral was held yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Brigid's church.

Hancock Church.

Rev. A. Herbert Ames of Carlyle will preach at the regular service at 10.30. The evening service will be conducted by the Y. P. S. C. E.

Leisure hours are the best or the worst part of our lives.

LEXINGTON LOCALS.

A. M. Redman took Kenneth and Thomas Carter with him on Monday
of this week to Washington and Baltimore.

The death of Mrs. Helene W. Burgess, a former Lexington girl, who shot herself in Salem last Tuesday, came as a great shock to all who knew her. Married last October, she was but 20 years old at the time of her death. The funeral was held Thursday at 3 o'clock in the chapel at Mount Auburn.

George H. Thurston, who has been janitor of the town hall for 17 years, resigned the first of this month. Geo.
B. Dennett has been appointed in Mr.
Thurston's place. Mr. Dennett is a member of the G. A. R. and was in the 12th Massachusetts. He was imprisoned in Andersonville and when liberated was so emaciated and weak that it was with difficulty that he was brought home alive.

Father Kavanagh, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Robert O'Brien of Somerville and her son James, and Miss Catherine J. Brennan, will start for their European trip tomorrow. They will sail on the North German Lloyd liner Treve and will go directly to Rome. They will visit the other important cities of Italy, afterwards touring through France, England and Ireland. They will return from Queenstown on the Saxonia the first of October. During the absence of Father Kavanagh, Father Fennessey
will have charge of the parish, and will be assisted by a priest from St.
John's seminary of Brighton.

Dr. and Mrs. Rolf went to their summer home at Martha's Vineyard Monday.

Daniel J. Bailey was in court Monday for drunkenness and for malicious-ly breaking in the door of Cornelius Ryan's house on Bedford street. Balley went over to Ryan's when no one was at home except Mrs. Ryan, who tried to persuade him to leave. He seized a milk can and with it battered in the panels of the door. Bailey pleaded guilty to both complaints and was fined $5 for drunkenness and $15
for breaking the door.

Arthur Tucker took a header while riding his motorcycle Wednesday morning with his hands off the handlebars. Both Mr. Tucker and the machine came out of the accident with no very serious injuries. The motorcycle is for sale cheap.

There will be a concert Monday evening at 8 in the town hall by Helen and Bessie Tufts, assisted by Mrs.
Jessie Downer-Eaton.

The team representing the ninth grade defeated the Bedford grammar school 25 to 17 Monday. Another game was played yesterday at Bedford.

W. E. Page and family left yesterday for their summer home.

Rev. F. A. Macdonald will preach tomorrow afternoon at the rooms of the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

There will be an informal dance at the Old Belfrey club this evening.

In spite of the low temperature, the lawn party at Mrs. G. W. Fuller's Wednesday evening was a great success.
There was a good big crowd present,
and Chief Franks had to be sent up for an extra order of ice cream. The candy also gave out very early in the evening. Those who were more sensitive to the cold were entertained in the house with music.

George G. Meade Post 119 gave a reception to the Relief corps Wednesday night in Grand Army hall. The entertainment consisted of music, reading and speechmaking. Among the speakers were Mrs. Willey of the Relief corps and members of the post.
Mrs. Gurney read and the orchestra of Post 36, Arlington, furnished the music. Refreshments were served, ice cream, strawberries and cake.

There will be a meeting of the Young People's Religious unions in this vicinity tomorrow evening. The speaker will be Rev. Thomas Van Ness.

The merry-hearted have a fortune
that thieves cannot steal.

Black Hair

"I have used your Hair Vigor
for five years and am greatly pleased with it. It certainly restores the original color to gray hair. It keeps my hair soft."—Mrs.
Helen Kilkenney, New Portland, Me.

been restoring color to
gray hair for fifty years,
and it never fails to do
this work, either.

You can rely upon it
for stopping your hair
from falling, for keeping your scalp clean, and for making your hair grow.

INSTRUCTIONS.

Before giving an alarm be sure a fire exists.
Give the alarm at the nearest box.
Pull the hook way down, only once, and let go.
Never give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance.
Wait at the box, if possible, and direct the firemen to the fire.
Never give a second alarm for the same fire; all second alarms are given by the engineers or other persons in authority.
Never give an alarm for a brush fire unless buildings are in danger; but inform the engineers and they will take action to extinguish it.
Citizens are requested to inform themselves as to the location of keys. Signs over the boxes will give the necessary information.
CAUTION TO PERSONS HAVING KEYS.
Never open boxes except to give an alarm.
You cannot remove your key until an engineer releases it, and it will then be returned to you.
Never allow the key out of your possession except to some responsible party for the purpose of giving an alarm, and then see that it is returned.
If you remove from your place of residence or business, return the key to the chief engineer.

Forestry: A New Career

By J. Russell Smith.

THE young forester has prospects of a salary that equals, or slightly exceeds, that of the college professor; and the location of his home will usually make his necessary living expenses less than those of the teacher. Within a decade, he may be in the employ of a railroad company, and have charge of many pieces of woodland which he will be able to reach easily by rail. He may secure a position as a State forester, or as member of a State corps. This is a promising field. Several of our forested States are coming into the possession of abandoned stump lands; and the care of them requires a forester who can supervise the work, look after the public interests, and disseminate information among the people. The State of New York is even buying up hundreds of square acres of woodlands to add to its forest reserve. The United States Government has a constantly increasing need for men. The public holdings are tremendous. For each of the last three years the forestry appropriation has been doubled, and the work that is being done for the private citizens is growing as rapidly as are the appropriations. These Government foresters are in attendance in the Department at Washington during the winter, but with the coming of spring they are scattered throughout the United States. They go to the woods of New England, of the South, and of the West, and return in the fall to make out their reports in the office. Eventually a large part of our Government force will be stationed in various parts of the West nearer to the centre of the greatest activity in public forestry.

Another class of positions will be with the lumber and paper companies. From all sections of the country these companies are acquiring into the methods of conservative forestry; and, as has been shown, some are already employing foresters, while others will probably follow their example. The men so employed will spend a large part of the time in the forests under their care; but in the winter season some of them, busy with their office work, will be located for a few months in the town or city headquarters of their corporation. This will enable their children to have the advantage of better schooling than that afforded by a paper factory town or a sawmill town.

Wherever he may be, the average American forester during the next thirty years will have a very different task from that of his European counterpart. In Europe everything is carefully worked out and reduced to system. The forests are cropped as regularly and as methodically as a farm. One forest crop is followed by another in regular rotation, and every phase of the question is definitely known and recorded in a forester's manual. In America the field still lies open for original work.

The March of Humanity.

By Benjamin Kidd.

WHEN we look back to the days of primeval man upon this earth—the days when each lived for himself, and every man's hand was against his neighbor—and compare such a state of things with the vast social fabric of the twentieth century of our own era, the mind loses itself in wonder and awe as it thinks of the duration and the strenuousness of the discipline that has alone made the present result possible.

What, we ask, has been the agency at work? The first requirement was that the individual must be subordinated to the State. This involved a condition of absolute militarism. This condition reached its climax and perfection in the military power of Rome.

The second great requirement—the second lesson man had to learn—was the sacrifice of the present to the future. Only those nations have triumphed who have deliberately subordinated the interests of the present to the interests of the future.

The future belongs to the nations who have learned the lesson of self-sacrifice; it belongs to the Anglo-Saxon people, provided they remain faithful to the ideal which they are gradually coming to perceive. Almost the first sign that a nation is subordinating the present to the future is a growth of tolerance in its midst, a tolerance so broad as to be intolerant of nothing save what tends to destroy that tolerance. As an example, let us look at the religious tolerance of the Anglo-Saxon people of today, the result of centuries of fire and sword.

Volcanoes Still a Mystery.

By Israel C. Russell, Professor of Geology.

PLAUSIBLE cause of the rise of the molten rock in a volcano is still a matter of discussion. Certain geologists contend that steam is the sole motive power; while others consider that the lava is forced to the surface owing to pressure on the reservoir from which it comes. The view perhaps most favorably entertained at present, in reference to the general nature of volcanic eruptions, is that the rigid outer portion of the earth becomes fractured, owing principally to movements resulting from the shrinking of the cooling inner mass, and that the intensely hot material reached by the fissures, previously solid owing to pressure, becomes liquid when pressure is relieved, and is forced to the surface. As the molten material rises it invades the water-charged rocks near the surface and acquires steam, or the gases resulting from the decomposition of water, and a new force is added which produces the most conspicuous and at times the most terrible phenomena accompanying eruptions.

The volcanic outbreaks on Martinique and St. Vincent are eruptions of the explosive type, similar to the explosions that have occurred from time to time in Vesuvius. The volcanoes have been dormant for years, and the lava in the summit portion of their conduits cold and hard; movements in the earth's crust caused a fresh ascent of lava from deep below the surface, the molten material came in contact with water in the rocks it invaded, and steam explosions resulted.

These explosions were similar to what would happen if water should be poured on a mass of molten slag such as comes from an iron furnace. The succession of events recorded in hundreds of instances has been repeated. Although the recent eruptions have been disastrous on account of their proximity to cities and thickly inhabited rural districts, they appear from the meager reports available to have been small in intensity in comparison to many other similar occurrences which have taken place.

New Views on Soup Question

By Dr. Carolyn Geisel, Vegetarian Expert.

IF you must have soup for your dinner let it be the last course instead of the first. In point of fact, liquid and solid food should not be served at the same meal, but it is less hurtful when the liquid is taken after the solids.

Soups for dinner are a matter of fashion, and should be removed from the menu for dinner as a course. The ordinary soup made from meat stock has little food value, as in the usual proportion of a pound of meat to a quart of soup, there is only twenty-eight per cent. nutriment—and a great many germs by no means to be desired. Vegetable soups are really food, and are especially fitted for luncheon, with an accompaniment of hard, dry toast or crackers. This is not a contradiction of my previous statement, that solids and soup should not be taken together, as a small quantity of solid food requiring mastication is needed for the secretion of saliva to assist digestion.

The reason that soup as a first course is undesirable is that the liquid dilutes the digestive fluids in the stomach, and, by retarding the process of digestion, causes dyspepsia.

Humanity's Greatest Need.

By Edwin Markham.

THE greatest need of man to-day is the old, old need of the world since time began—less of selfishness, more affectionate justice for the other man. Humanity's great need is that men should rise out of self-love into otherhood, should blossom out of self-seeking into self-forgetting.

There is a deep ethical significance in that cry of the street: "You are not so many," or that other cry: "There are others." It all comes to this: We need to find some way for making the Golden Rule a working principle. This Golden Rule demands that many changes be made in the world for human welfare, and, to my mind, chief among the needs that are pressing is the need that every man and woman should be secure in the right to make a living by labor.

The right of man to work is a right that civilization seems to have forgotten. In some way society should secure to every earnest citizen the right to work—more than that, the right to rest from his work.

It is charged by a writer in American Medicine that efforts to decrease the cost of manufacture of illuminating gas have resulted in making a dangerously poisonous product. Much modern gas consists largely of so-called water-gas, which contains thirty per cent. of carbon monoxide, a fatally poisonous substance. On the repeal, in Massachusetts, of laws limiting the proportion of monoxide in illuminating gas to ten per cent., the death rate from gas poisoning at once rose. In thirteen years prior to this the total number of deaths was only eight, while, in the thirteen years following the number was 450. Many puzzling cases of physical decline, the writer believes, are traceable to gas leaks in ill-ventilated houses.

Nine of the eighty-eight United States Senators were born between 1820 and 1830, and Pettus, of Alabama, born in 1821, is the oldest. His colleague, Morgan, was born in 1824. Hawley, Hoar and Bate first saw the light in 1826. Of the old men of the Senate four are Southern born, Pettus in Alabama, Morgan and Bate in Tennessee, and Hawley in North Carolina.

Prosperity and Literature.

Henry B. Fuller, in an article in the Chicago Evening Post, notes the interesting fact that our national literature suffers from our prosperity. Though Mr. Fuller's idea is not new, it is nevertheless worth repeating. As an example of the uses of adversity in development of great fiction, Mr. Fuller cites Nineteenth Century Russia. Says he:

"The greatest national fiction of the nineteenth century grew up under the blighting shadow of autocracy, with a threatening accompaniment of imprisonment, exile, excommunication and death. The works of Dostolevsky, Gogol, Turgeny and Tolstoy, let us bear in mind, were never written to amuse the leisure of prosperous persons fatigued by the mere attainment of their prosperity. Greater concerns were in these men's minds and hearts. The Russian plow turned up a deep and tragic furrow, and a rich harvest came in significant response. With us the plow of experience has but scratched along the surface, and a light and facile crop is the suitable return. Our one great deep experience as a nation, the civil war, found us inarticulate, save for a small New England group, and timidly provincial in our attitude toward the established art canons of the elder world; and while, in the present day, we are articulate to a surprising and even

It is admitted by the Medical Record that an American whose ancestors
have lived in the United States for several generations is "inclined to be a nervous, excitable, energetic and somewhat dyspeptic individual." Were it not for the fresh blood taken in by immigration the standard of our population, the writer apparently thinks, would fall below that of Europe. This is by way of answer to the charges of Dr. James Cantile, an English physician, who holds up the typical citizen of the United States as a horrible example of "a tall, gaunt, dyspeptic-visaged man, with hollow cheeks," and hopes that such "objects" will not become common in Great Britain. Between the British detractor and the American apologist the ordinary American seems to fare poorly.

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON.

(Special Correspondence.)

A Novel Gift.—A committee representing the Junior Order of United American Mechanics called on President Roosevelt to present a cane. Representative Spencer Blackburn of North Carolina, on behalf of the order, made the presentation speech, explaining that the cane was made from wood taken from San Juan hill and praising the gallantry of Col. Roosevelt and the rough riders, who took such a prominent part in the battle at that place. He said that by this gift 200,000 American mechanics wished to express their loyalty to the president of the United States. President Roosevelt suitably replied.

Lively Time at White House.—Margaret Vinton Taylor, the eight-year-old Cincinnati girl who was kidnapped by her aunt in 1898 and recently located in Italy, arrived in Washington the other day, accompanied by her father, who went to Italy to get her.
Her mother and baby brother met the two in New York. The baby brother's name is Edward and he is two and one-half years old. He has a strong pair of lungs and a wilful disposition, and to these were due the liveliest kind of a time at the White House. Two Cincinnati newspapers have been rivaling each other in giving prominence to the kidnapping case
and each had a representative to meet the Taylor family when they reached Washington. One of the representatives made arrangements to introduce Margaret to President Roosevelt. The other representative insisted on going along. Just as the party was about to enter Mr. Roosevelt's office, Edward of the strong lungs and wilful disposition set up a yell that was heard in every part of the big mansion. He refused to see the president. All he wanted to do was to lie on the floor. Edward was left in the care of a doorman, and the newspaper man rushed back to make the introduction and tell the president how his newspaper had rescued Margaret.
When he reached the president's office the representative of the rival paper had done the work, only in his speech he said that the journal which he served had been the rescuer.

The Chicago Officers.—Secretary of the Navy Moody has disapproved part of the conclusions of the court of inquiry which investigated the alleged misconduct at Venice of the four officers of the cruiser Chicago, who were sentenced by an Italian court to terms of imprisonment and afterward
pardoned by King Victor Emmanuel.
In the conclusions disapproved the court found fault with the accused officers on account of their actions at Venice. Mr. Moody has also ordered that no further proceedings be taken against them. In view of the secretary's action in the case it has been determined not to make public anything on the subject until after the American war vessels, now at Naples
under command of Rear Admiral Crowninshield, have left Italian waters.

Medals for the Army.—Secretary Root has sent to congress the draft of a joint resolution, authorizing the distribution of medals for service in the Spanish-American war and other campaigns. The object of the resolution is to give the army a similar medal to that granted to the navy for services at Santiago. In explanation of the resolution Secretary Root says
in his letter of transmittal: "There is contemplated a separate medal for the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection and the China relief expedition. That there shall be a bar for each of the campaigns of Santiago, Porto Rico and Manila, properly inscribed and worn attached to the ribbon of the medal. These medals are intended not only for the officers and soldiers, but for any persons who have been attached to the army and performed faithful service therewith." It is estimated that 446,882 medals will be required to commemorate the services of the regulars and volunteers who served during the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection and the campaign for the relief of Pekin, China. An appropriation of $100,000, therefore, will allow an average expenditure of about 22 cents a medal.

Remembered by the King.—Mrs.
Harriet Lane Johnson, niece of President Buchanan and mistress of the White House when the Prince of Wales visited America, has not been forgotten by King Edward. She is now in London, and will witness the coronation by invitation of the king. Mrs.
Johnson lives at 18th and I streets, in the house occupied by W. M. Everts when he was U. S. senator, and her house has been closed for several weeks, the owner having gone abroad in ample time to visit Paris to have her costumes made for the festivities attending the coronation. When the Prince of Wales came to America as "Lord Renfrew," he was invited by President Buchanan to become his guest at the White House. The president's household at that time was presided over by Harriet Lane, who arranged several pleasant trips for the prince. She accompanied the party down the Potomac, on the cutter named after her, to Mt. Vernon, where the prince planted a tree at the tomb of Washington. She stood with him on the White House balcony when he witnessed the fireworks which were displayed in his honor. Mrs. Johnson's friends here have heard from her that she is looking forward to the coronation with all the enthusiasm of her happy youth, when she was mistress
of the White House, in antebellum days.

Surprising the Teacher.
They have an amiable custom in some of the Brooklyn schools of giving the teachers what are termed "surprises."
When a class has been with a new teacher a reasonably long period and she hasn't developed any disagreeable traits, such as a passion for "keeping in" or writing notes to parents, it is agreed among the pupils to give her a "surprise." It is customary to call on the principal for "aid and comfort" in carrying out the scheme. The first thing is to levy a per capita tax on each member of the class. Then the nature of the gift is determined on, and lastly the principal is waited on. At a given hour she is requested to send for the class teacher on some pretence.
While the teacher is out of the room
the gift is placed on her desk. Presently the teacher returns to the class with a consciously unconscious look on her face. At the moment of her entry
she is greeted with the cry of "Surprise!" uttered simultaneously by the whole class. Of course she is properly overcome and life is "one grand sweet song" in that room for the rest of the afternoon.—New York Sun.

Where Tips Are Expected.
Everyone who has traveled in Europe knows that it is almost necessary to pay one's way twice over. A traveler pays his fare from place to place,
and in addition tips the guards and the porters; he pays his bill at the hotel, and scatters small change right and left among the waiters and chambermaids. Even when he is visiting at a private house he must fee the servant—
at least, it is expected that he will. The traveler does not always know it, but it is nevertheless true, that some one or another nearly always receives a commission on his purchases at the shops—
his guide, his courier or his hotelkeeper.
Tips are open, the commissions are secret.—John Glimmer Speed, in Lippincott.

Korean Bachelors Wear Skirts.

A peculiar custom is followed in remote Korea, where a man is not permitted to attain to the dignity of trousers until he has become a Benedict, which, in accordance with Korean tradition, amounts to the same thing
as gaining a definite position in life,
as the Korean youth is not permitted to take a wife until he himself is able to support her according to his
and her rank and to enable her to take her proper position in society. The steady encroachment of Western ideas from Russia and Japan is bringing European garments with it, and this curious custom is gradually becoming a thing of the past.

To give what you don't want or need is no gift at all.

The baccalaureate sermon is just at present in demand.

The telltale eye has many a time caused a tragedy of hearts.

No one sees an object in its entirety, until he sees it in perspective.

That is always popular with some folks which furnishes opportunity for grumbling.

Don't light your gas or turn on the electric light in your home during the twilight hour. The dreamy hour of the day is not alone for lovers.

There is many a man who prays with his eyes wide open; and many another there is who doesn't really pray even when his eyes are shut.

A brilliant light in the theological world has gone out with the life of Rev. George H. Hepworth. For the past twelve years Mr. Hepworth has preached through the Sunday New York Herald in a unique way at a salary of $10,000 a year.

The 17th of June, which occurs Tuesday of next week, is another red-letter day in the historical calendar of New England. The battle at Bunker Hill gave emphasis to the battles fought at Lexington and Concord as it again demonstrated that the early fathers were terribly in earnest in their demand for individual liberty. Lexington and Bunker Hill are known the world over.

SAY THAT GOOD WORD.

Say that good word while your friend is living. It will do him infinitely more service now than will the tears shed over his grave. Why is it that the best of us so tardily give due credit to those in the body? Why is it that we wait until the grave closes over those whom we love best before we speak the appreciative word? No longer fear, you manly man and you womanly woman, that your words of appreciation and love of the friend while he is with you may be too prolific in praise; and especially do not fear that you may speak excessively of the virtues of the dead. We are so frequently forgetful of all else aside from ourselves that we fail to remember that some deserving one is longing for a helpful word from us. "If I had thought thou couldst have died."

I might not weep for thee;
But I forget, when by my side,
That thou couldst mortal be."

WHERE SHALL WE SUMMER?

In these days of bustle and bustle, change of climate, location, scenery, and peoples is far more necessary to those whose nerves have been at taut tension the greater part of the year than in the olden time when affairs jogged on at a mule's pace. So that now the question forces itself upon us, as the old earth bows along towards the solstitial station, and brings us to the hazy days of midsummer, "where shall we go?"

Those who are seeking for a good investment as well as a delightful retreat from worry and business cares will do well to examine the region around the beautiful sheet of water, known as Bearcamp pond in the town of Sandwich, New Hampshire. The climate is salubrious in summer, the scenery is all that the artist can wish, all that mountains and valleys can give to the landscape; land is cheap, and lumber for the building of cottages is a minimum in cost, with a large mill at the outlet of the lake. This beautiful spot can be reached by the Boston &amp; Maine railroad, which gives excursion rates in summer over the route via Lake Winnepesaukee, and transportation from the steamer landing to Bearcamp is easy, and besides an electric road is already in contemplation. When this is built prices of land will increase with the influx of summer visitors.

The Enterprise will gladly furnish information. If prospectors will write or call in person.

NICOLL-SNOW.

Edward W. Nicoll and Mabel White Snow were married at the Park Avenue church Monday evening by Rev. J. G. Taylor. The Episcopal service was used with two rings. The bride was given away by her brother, Ernest Snow. She was attended by Miss Elna Bridgman as maid of honor. Her gown was white muslin and lace with a veil caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a prayer book. The maid of honor wore white muslin over pink, with pink roses. Herbert A. Snow, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. The ushers were Minot A. Bridgman, Herbert Nicoll, Frank Record of Malden and Mr. Dow of Cambridge. Miss Coolidge of the Pilgrim Congregational church presided at the organ. The church was prettily decorated with daisies and ferns and palms by the young lady friends of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held for relatives at the house, where the many and beautiful presents were displayed. Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll departed for a two weeks' trip.

The recent announcement in several quarters that a new remedy for cancer had been discovered in plasters made from the common violet flower and its leaves gives some interest to the therapeutic action of the latter. It is by no means new in medicine, having been employed as a domestic remedy in ancient Rome. The whole plant of viola odorata (the sweet violet) contains an acrid poisonous principle named by its discoverer, Boullay, in 1828, "violine." This poison is a white or pale yellow acrid powder, somewhat soluble in water and alcohol, and having powerful emetic properties. Small doses of the root act as a tonic; larger ones as a purgative, and in doses of from 40 to 60 grains it is an emetic. The odoriferous principle of the flowers has not yet been definitely established.

In a London safe deposit vault recently the renter of a safe, anxious for the spiritual welfare of one of the janitors, said, while they were in the vault together, "Are you prepared to die?" For answer the janitor instantly plied the questioner to the wall by throat. Assistance arrived, and the unfortunate renter was carried out, half "throttled." Explanations ensued, and it was then discovered that an inquiry after his spiritual welfare had been construed by the janitor as the preliminary to a murderous attack.
